Sandia National Laboratories is a multi-program laboratory operated by Sandia Corporation, a wholly owned subsidiary of Lockheed Martin Corporation, for the U.S. Department of Energy’s National Nuclear Security Administration. With main facilities in Albuquerque, N.M., and Livermore, Calif., Sandia has major R&D responsibilities in national and cyber security, energy and environmental technologies, and economic competitiveness.

Dr. Phillips will be delivering a presentation to the GW Research Community on opportunities for partnerships and her roles and responsibilities at Sandia, including leadership of the Laboratory’s $165M Laboratory Directed Research and Development (LDRD) program, research strategy development and implementation, and intellectual property protection and deployment. We hope to see you there!
